PERSONALS AND BRIEFS.

Notes of Happenings and People You Know.

Ye who have scorned each other,
Or injured friend or brother,
In this fast-fading year;
Ye, who by word or deed,
Have made a kind heart bleed,
Come gather here!

Let sinners against and sinners
Forget their strife's beginning,
And join in friendship now.
Be links no longer broken,
Be sweet forgiveness spoken
Under the Holly-Bough.

—Charles Mackay.

Some one has well said: "Christmas spirit in the air is better than Christmas spirits under the vest."

A few cat-crackers were shot off on Sunday in Farmville, and this is something new for us, and not a bit nice.

A colored preacher is quoted as saying to his congregation: "Bridges, ah kaint preach hyah an bon'd in heb'n."

Read what is so well said of Santa Claus in another column of this issue of the Herald. It has never been better said nor is likely to be.

Mr. R. R. Tuggle has gone to New York to dine with the magnates of the American Tobacco Co. It need not be added that it was a swell function.

Hand-made Christmas gifts carry more heart with them than the store bought ones, and every touch make heart-links stronger than those of steel.

Messrs. Robert and Monroe Morton, the former of Louisville, Ky., and the latter of Lynchburg, have been on a visit to their mother, Mrs. C. R. Morton.

The turnip patches now look as though they would never be clothed in living green, but wait for the sun of another spring and watch for the spring dress.

There will be tired merchants and clerks in Farmville on Christmas morning, but Rev. Mr. Dadman recently emphasized the fact that a change of work is recreation.

How about a good Christmas resolution to lap over to the last day of the New Year, and on that day to be renewed for the entire year of 1911?

Mrs. Taft gave a doll to a Washington bazaar, and it sold at auction for $245. Maybe the good lady would send one to the next bazaar to be held in Farmville.

Farmers with good wood piles, ice houses filled and hams to sell at 25 cents a pound ought to be happy, and no doubt they are grateful and glad.

The writer once stood in the midst of 500 hens on a Prince Edward farm, and has just been reading of a family of 20,000 on a New York farm.

It isn't the dollar that counts, but the "nimble dollar." Keep it moving, and don't forget that the Herald is only one dollar for a whole year.

Electric lights have been placed in the homes of Messrs. Anderson and Watkins on the Serpell Heights. All those homes now need are sewerage conveniences.

Mr. Jas. A. Armistead, Jr., has severed his connection with the American Tobacco Co., and will represent a rival company, and have the State of Virginia as his work field.

The assistant post master for Farmville has no idea of resigning, and is now safe against political changes. And it may be that the post master may also enjoy civil service protection.

Mr. and Mrs. Gooch, of Roanoke, have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Scott. Mrs. Scott, who has not been well, returned with them on Monday to their home in Roanoke.

Farmville misses the Normalites, but not as when all go. Fifty remain to give new cheer to the Christmas time. Let them know that they have the keys of Farmville for the holiday season.

We say again that the Herald at one dollar for the 365 days that go to make up the year 1911, is an appropriate and economical gift for an absent friend. Think it over and send in your order.

Mr. W. M. Duvall has formed a unique smoking habit—one cigar a day and that one after supper. The rest of us prefer one after each meal, and some of us several between meals.

Sunday is a good day for observing Christmas in the proper spirit and the proper way. And why not on that day make proper return for God's Christmas gift to the children of men?

Christmas gift. And remember we said it first.

Mr. W. E. Hland is improving, and will soon be on duty again.

Mr. John Jes, who has been quite sick, is actually improving.

Last Monday morning was shrouded in fog as the electric lights did fine work.

Miss Margaret Morton has been a recent guest in the family of Mr. B. M. Bliss.

After all the Christmas homecoming is the chief charm about the Christmas tie.

Suffrage went "dry" by 55 majority, and there is no talk of a contest in this the "wets" set good example.

Tobacco factory hands have had poor chance during the fall and may be short of Christmas money. They will be busy, however, after the holidays.

The Norfolk and Western paid to its employees on Tuesday last quite one million dollars. And many a Christmas gift was wrapped up in that big bunch of money.

The December cold spell for 1910 has been a record breaker for this section of Virginia. And yet the sun has been shining brightly and the air has been bracing and stimulating.

It is rather a remarkable coincidence that the three bazaars recently held in Farmville resulted each of them in receipts amounting to a few dollars over the two hundred mark.

"Bob" Miller is rarely seen on our streets but dropped into the Herald office Tuesday and was happy to tell of his vigorous health and to show the corns on the palms of his hands.

A family in town, composed of husband, wife, and two young children, sleep on the back porch of the home each night and say they will move indoors when the weather gets to be wintry.

The macadam leading out from High street makes one of the best winter walks about Farmville, and it is well tramped on bright afternoons by a bevy of cheerful, chatty girls.

Roll in ye tobacco from Buckingham and come by the Wilborne's bridge route with the assurance that when you strike the Prince Edward shore it will be rock-bottomed from that point to the warehouses.

Mrs. Mattie Enright, of Danville, has been a recent visitor in the home of Mr. B. H. Paulett. She "just had to see the baby." And now there is another proud grandpapa in Farmville. Mother and child are doing well.

It will be subject of genuine regret to his circle of friends in Farmville to know that Mr. W. B. Agnew will leave on the 1st of January. He goes to Virginia, Halifax county, to continue in the drug business.

President Graham, of Hampden-Sidney, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church the first Sunday in January, as the regular pastor will preach in the West End Church, Atlanta, on that day.

If you happen to know some willing workers among the girls who are in search of work, refer them to the manager of the overall factory. Honest, honorable and profitable work is there offered. The opportunity is knocking—admit it.

In the quiet of your own homes read over carefully the advertising columns of the Herald, select your Christmas presents and then though you shop late, you may shop quickly and satisfactorily. You will make no mistake in following the directions of the Herald.

Rev. Hill, Mrs. Hill and the children went to Richmond on Thursday. Mrs. Hill and the little ones will spend Christmas in the home of her parents, but Mr. Hill will return to preach as usual on Sunday. The series of sermons to the young women will not be resumed until the 2nd or 3rd Sunday in January.

HELP THE MERCHANTS.

Persons who live in town and who may be busy today and tomorrow buying from our stores, would contribute to the comfort and convenience of the merchants if they will take with them to their homes the articles purchased.

In the rush mistakes are likely to occur, and to the annoyance of all concerned. To the individual this is matter of small concern, but in the aggregate means much to busy merchants.

To All Whom It May Concern.

Take notice that not only will the stores of Farmville be closed on Monday, the 26th, but the Dispensary as well. Saturday at sundown is the last call. Why not a nogless Christmas?

Christmas and Sunday in happy harmony. Birthday and Resurrection day, met and mingled in sweetest union. The angels heralded the one day and earth and heaven unite in welcoming the other. If Christ is not risen then is preaching in vain and your faith is also vain.

You Must Read This If You Want The Benefit.

J. W. Greer, Greenwood, La., suffered with a severe case of lumbago. "The pains were so intense I was forced to hypodermic injections for relief. These attacks started with a pain in the small of my back which gradually became fairly paralyzing. My attention was attracted to Foley's Kidney Remedy and I am glad to say after using this wonderful medicine I am no longer bothered in any way by my old enemy lumbago." Sold by all druggists.

Stopping Your Paper.

Some time ago, a cranky sort of individual came into this office and stopped his paper because something in it did not exactly suit his fancy.

We have frequently met him on the streets since then, and it is amusing to note the look of surprise on the old fellow's face when he realizes that the editor is still in existence, regardless of the fact we are no longer getting his money.

Some day, however, and it will not be long—that old gentleman will turn up his toes. His heart will be still forever. There will be a display of pretty poises and crepe and the neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless clay out to the silent city and lay it to rest in the deep, dark tomb.

An obituary will be published in this paper, telling what a kind husband, father, good neighbor, beloved citizen, and how progressive and public-spirited he was—which the recording angel will overlook for sweet charity's sake—and in a short time he will be forgotten.

As he lies out there in the cold, cold graveyard, wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know the last kind word spoken of him will be by the editor of the paper which he so spitefully "stopped."

Have you, gentle reader, ever paused a moment to think that your editor—whenever he may be—will some day write your obituary?—Ex.

The Editor And The Doctor.

Says the Pearisburg Virginian: If an editor makes a mistake he has to apologize for it, but if a doctor makes a mistake he buries it.

If the editor makes one there is a lawsuit, swearing and the smell of sulphur, but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral, eat flowers and a smell of varnish.

A doctor can use a word a yard long without knowing what it means but if the editor uses it he has to spell it.

If a doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit, but if the editor goes to see another man's wife he gets a charge of buckshot.

When a doctor gets drunk it's a case of "overcome by heat," and if he dies it is heart trouble.

When an editor gets drunk it's a case of too much booze, and if he dies it is a case of delirium tremens.

Any old college can make a doctor.

You can't make an editor, he has to be born.
